

7 IMPORTANT FACTORS TO CONSIDER FOR YOUR NEXT REFERRAL

RADIATION ONCOLOGY SERVICES

ROS cares

ROS physicians and broad support staff make every effort to understand what cancer really means to each individual patient and family. The collective goal is to ease the fear of cancer through education, a strong commitment to pain management, and emotional as well as spiritual support. The ROS team encourages all patients to be direct participants in their treatment-related decisions, thus promoting a patient's sense of control. ROS strives to deliver quality cancer care at all levels throughout a patient's experience. In addition, ROS provides compassionate care in an environment that respects and maintains a patient's dignity at all times. It is through the efforts of many that the fear associated with cancer can be replaced with understanding, acceptance and hope.

ROS is close to home

Cancer patients take comfort in knowing they do not have to leave the state to receive quality radiation therapy. Through our Piedmont and WellStar partnerships, patients can receive treatment at a number of centers in the greater metropolitan Atlanta area.

ROS is convenient

At each center, the friendly comfortable environment puts the finest care within easy reach. Each center design promotes easy access to help patients return to family, home and work as soon as possible.

ROS is state-of-the-art

ROS maintains a strong commitment to the cutting-edge by equipping each center with state-of-the-art linear accelerators and computerized treatment planning systems. While technology is important to quality radiation therapy, ROS recognizes that a well-trained staff provides the critical link between advanced technology and compassionate cancer care.

To start referring your patients to Radiation Oncology Services, please visit RadOnc.com/referrals or call us at 770.288.5212.